News From the Board

Board Changes and Upcoming Election

Former Gallup Public Radio President Ron Donkersloot plans to leave the Board of Directors at the end of the year, with the terms of Gerald O'Hara, Millie Dunning, Fitz Sargent, Sam MacBride, and Loree Monroe expiring at the end of this year. Nominations are open for these six positions until December 16, with election ballots sent by KGLP members via personal email or paper ballots through January 10, 2014.

Nominations may be made by any active KGLP (Gallup Public Radio) member, again through December 16, 2013, by email, phone, or letter. Anyone who has donated (money, vehicles, time, or anything of value) in the last year, through the nominating or election deadlines, is considered an active member, and may participate in this process.

The roster of candidates for the January 10 election will be publicized over the air by December 17, 2013, with candidate bio's or introductions posted at KGLP.org soon after. Any member desiring a paper election ballot by phone, email, letter, or in person will be sent or handed one upon request. Any active members emailing their votes for up to six candidates (announced over KGLP's air and listed at KGLP.org) will be recognized as having voted in the board election...no formal ballot will be needed, so long as candidate names are selected from those running.

The election ballot printed on page 5 may be mailed in or dropped off by January 10, 2014, but may need to be filled in with any nominees added after December 16.

Thank you to all of Gallup Public Radio's active members for taking a few minutes to decide on the future of our board of directors.

For questions or suggestions, please feel free to contact us: 505-863-7626 or kglpradio@kglp.org.

Programming Notes

Latino USA expands to one hour; UnderCurrents Back at 9pm Saturdays

- 1) Latino USA is now one hour long. Since we now air the TED Radio Hour at 2pm Fridays,
- 2) Peace Talks is temporarily airing at 11pm Fridays, until we find a better spot.
- 3) After feedback from our listeners, we are now airing all three hours of UnderCurrents beginning at 9pm Saturdays - at this time, we are not planning to return 12th Street Jump to KGLP air.
- 4) Big Picture Science airs at 6am Saturdays; the Best of Our Knowledge is not airing on KGLP, at this time, and Planetary Radio is currently airing at 11pm Thursdays. (You can listen to the program's episodes and explore other Planetary Society news at planetary.org) print journalist Robert Galin will soon provide local and regional news updates at 8:06 a.m. most weekdays, during NPR's Morning Edition.

KGLP show hosts, in some cases aided by Korby and Lyle, are entering their music play lists online, for access at KGLP.org (linking to Spintron.com, where listeners may also find information about the music played on KGLP's locally hosted shows.)

Equipment upgrades will be continuing into November. As it turned out, the August 17, 2013 replacement of KGLP's satellite dish (residing on top of UNM-Gallup's Gurley Hall) did not interrupt our broadcast for more than 30 minutes that day. Funds generously provided to Gallup Public Radio by the McCune Foundation and the BNSF Railway Foundation earlier this year enabled our purchase of a new automation system, which will replace the aging equipment currently keeping KGLP's programs on the air 24/7. This, in tandem with plans to eventually utilize KGLP office space as a recording studio, will provide more flexibility for local production needs as well as backup for our on-air studio, improve interaction with students and community members, and help improve the quality of our local shows and announcements.

Since beginning work at KGLP in January of 2011, I have endeavored to improve the quality and consistency of our broadcast services for Northwestern New Mexico and Northeastern Arizona, whether by making it easier for KGLP's local show hosts to do their jobs, by improving the performance of our automation system, or by networking with individuals and entities in the area, such as the Navajo Nation, the City of Gallup, corporations, foundations, the University of New Mexico Gallup branch, or any number of non-profit organizations in our community.

Adding NPR and BBC newscasts, expanding the delivery of public service announcements, restarting online streaming at KGLP.org, and working with board members on KGLP's programming committee, has hopefully led to audible improvements in your experience of Gallup Public Radio over the last three years.

The improvements at KGLP began several years earlier with former President and current board member Gerald O'Hara, who, with board members Mildred Dunning, Carol Sarath, Ron Donkersloot, and others, guided Gallup Public Radio out of a financially and operationally challenging period, got the station back "into the black", then pushed for the hire of a professional manager. That, in turn, led to my discovery of some issues needing particular attention.

KGLP's first thirteen years in Gallup consisted largely of repeating the broadcast signal received from KSUT, an Ignacio, Colorado public radio station owned by the Southern Ute Indian Tribe, with KSUT's permission. In 2005, KGLP ended that arrangement, beginning to originate the broadcast of locally hosted shows as well as network and syndicated content. Local public affairs programs addressed community issues, or helped get the word out. KGLP's signal increased to almost 1,000 watts in 2006, providing a better signal to the area. There were definitely improvements heard over the air.

Unfortunately, the folks running the station at that time didn't realize that they then had to start documenting the local programming that served our community for display in KGLP's Public File, a binder kept at the station and available for public review. That ignorance about FCC public file requirements continued through 2010, after which I began as KGLP's station manager, discovered the problem, then addressed the issue in the FCC application for the recent renewal of our broadcast license.

Now, we have received a provisional renewal, good for the next four years, half of what most stations receive, and will have a $12,000 fine because of the lapses in Public File maintenance from 2005 through 2010 (about $2,000 for each year in which those files were not added.) This does NOT negate the significant improvements in KGLP's service to the area, but is certainly humbling.

While this does place a burden on our finances, we believe that listeners who value the presence of public radio in Gallup will continue to support our mission and the continued improvement of our service to you and your neighbors. This problem must never recur, and will not, with the

KGLP Board Election Ballot (update after 12/16/2013)

_____ Millie Dunning

Gallup resident since 2003. Married to Gerald O'Hara. I have been a member of the Board since 2005 and have served two terms as Treasurer. Member of ACS-Relay For Life and served as Secretary and Sponsorship Chair for four years. I am also a member of the Community Concert Association Board and recently became Secretary for that organization. I feel public radio is very important to the community and have been working to

_____ Sam MacBride

I have been on the board for one year, and have held professional management positions. I am also involved in other non-profit organizations based in New Mexico and familiar with some of the regulatory issues around running a non-profit in this state, and have fundraised for non-profits as well. I work as a physician in the Gallup area.

_____ Gerald O'Hara

I'm a long time listener of Public Radio and viewer of Public Television. Early on, I found the fact based and thorough, in depth reporting of news from around the world an enriching view of the world not available from the truncated approach the three networks available at the time took. In today's opinion based shouting that is called 'news,' it is the fact-based element that has taken precedence. Public Radio's mission includes providing content that commercial media finds 'not commercially viable.' KGLP provides musical genre not found even in some larger markets like Albuquerque. I have been and will continue to be committed to KGLP's valuable contribution to the quality of life in the northwestern portion of New Mexico & northeastern portion of Arizona.

_____ Fitz Sargent

I am an artist and architect and I live and work in downtown Gallup. I believe in Public Radio and I believe that KGLP can play a more significant role in making Gallup a better place to live. I would like to hear more local content that inspires Gallupians about the future, the arts and the rich cultural potential that abounds here. In addition I enjoy fundraising and outreach efforts that allow me to get to know more people. I hope that you will give me an opportunity to continue serving on KGLP's board.

_____ Loree Monroe

I am an avid listener of public radio and have served on the Gallup Public Radio board since June 2012. I work as a nurse practitioner at GIMC. While learning about Radio, NPR and the FCC, my previous experience serving on other not-for-profits has been helpful for the GPR board. This is an exciting time for KGLP, and I believe that changes and improvements made today will benefit our area for years to come.

Fund Drive Comparison

Funding Sources FY 12-13

Listener donations rose dramatically during the Spring 2012 fundraiser, probably spurred in part by matching from the BNSF Railway Foundation, then fell back in the Fall of 2012 and Spring of 2013, mirroring the Fall of 2008 and Spring of 2009 results. The goal for the Fall 2013 fundraiser is now $14,000, which is achievable with your help. Success in obtaining outside funding is directly tied to our local fundraising success. CPB, for example, specifically requires adequate local funding in order to qualify for grants that help pay for our network programs from NPR, NV1, Pacifica Radio, American Public Media, Public Radio International, and more. Vehicle donations have been important, as were donations from the McCune Foundation and the BNSF Railway Foundation, following the Spring 2013 fundraiser, which made it practical to purchase a replacement for our aging automation system. We don't have any matching available this Fall, and so KGLP will depend on listener support as much as ever, as we build on improvements in our broadcast service that have been made since 2011. Please help us move forward with your commitment to Public Radio in Gallup, NW NM, and NE AZ! On page 8, you will see a programming survey. Also, inserted on Page seven, there is a contribution form, if needed, that includes a section for your feedback on ANYTHING related to KGLP, whether you donate or not.

vigilance of future boards and staff being equally important to ensure the sustenance of such an important resource as KGLP. If you or someone that you know could help guide KGLP in the future, consider a nomination to be elected to Gallup Public Radio's board of directors, due by December 16, 2013. (See Page 3 & 5.)

The horizon looks bright, as we go forward, particularly with the support of our members, listeners, and the surrounding communities.

Aside from that critical step of the license renewal, it is support from our renewing members, new members, foundations, underwriters, volunteers, and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting that makes it possible for Gallup Public Radio deliver quality programming, year to year. Your money, time, vehicle donations, gifts of art or music, and passion for your favorite programs helps sustain this service to Gallup and the surrounding area. (continued on Page 10) →

The goal for the On-Air Fundraiser scheduled for Monday, October 14 through Saturday, October 19, is fourteen thousand dollars. You don't have to wait until then to pledge your support for Gallup Public Radio. In fact, if we reach our goal before October 19, we'll end the live requests for pledges early. If you would like to make your pledge now, you may go to KGLP.org, and download a pledge form, or donate directly with Pay Pal.

You may also call 505-863-7626 and pledge any amount, including your name and telephone number, whether you get a message or not, and we will confirm with you soon after.

If you can't afford to donate money this time around, how about your time? You may volunteer to answer the phone during the on-air fundraiser by calling 505-863-7626 or email manager@kglp.org.

In addition to sustaining KGLP's daily operations, our fundraisers are a form of community engagement. When you make a pledge, you also can let us know how we're doing, make suggestions, or raise concerns about particular issues.

Making your pledge or donation is easier than ever. Over the phone, you can give us any major credit card, whether Discover, American Express, Diner's Club, or the usual Visa or Mastercard. Even JCP, from the Japanese Credit Bureau, is honored.

Online, at KGLP.org, you may download a pledge form, or donate directly with PayPal at any time.

Remember that your old vehicles are also important donations - you can find out more about that option by going to KGLP.org, or just call 866-789-8627.

Thank you, to everyone who has kept this non-profit enterprise headed in the right direction, while tuning in to programs that improve the quality of our lives every day.
